个人简介

WING HUNG KI is a Professor at HKUST, specializing in Integrated Circuits and Systems (ICS). He holds a PhD in Electrical Engineering from the University of California, Los Angeles, and has extensive experience in analog integrated circuits, switch mode, and switched-capacitor power converters. Prior to his academic career, Professor Ki worked as a Senior Design Engineer at Micro Linear Corporation, focusing on power converter controllers. His research interests also include low dropout regulators and he is involved in multi-disciplinary themes such as Bio-Systems and Bio-information Technologies (BBT) and Ecotronics and Green ICT (EGI).
